GMAT

Preparation, one-to-one.

A diagnostic-led plan for the present-day GMAT — Quantitative, Verbal and Data Insights — built around your target schools, your application round and the hours you actually have.

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW ◆

One exam, three sections, one score schools compare.

The GMAT is the admissions test most graduate business schools use to compare applicants from different universities and countries on the same scale. It rewards reasoning under time pressure more than memorised content, which is why it responds so well to structured, individual preparation.

Times Edu prepares final-year university students and working professionals in Vietnam for the current version of the exam (launched by GMAC in November 2023 as the GMAT Focus Edition, now simply the GMAT). Each candidate works one-to-one with a tutor on a plan set from their own diagnostic, target programmes and application deadlines.

THREE PRINCIPLES ◆

01

Diagnose before we teach

Every plan starts from a timed diagnostic and an error profile, so sessions go where points are actually being lost.

02

Balance all three sections

Quant, Verbal and Data Insights count equally toward the total. A weak section caps the score however strong the others are.

03

Treat strategy as a skill

Pacing, section order and the review-and-edit tool are rehearsed until they are automatic on test day.

How it is scored

Each section is reported on a 60–90 scale. The three sections are weighted equally in a total score from 205 to 805. Score reports also show a percentile for the total and for each section.

What counts as a strong score depends on the programmes you apply to. We set your target from the class profiles your schools publish, not from a generic number.

Rules that shape strategy

- ◆ Choose your section order. Any of the six orders – a decision we test in mocks, not on the day.
- ◆ Review and edit. Bookmark questions and change up to three answers per section before time runs out.
- ◆ Finish every section. Unanswered questions are penalised, so pacing is part of the score.
- ◆ Adaptive by question. Difficulty adjusts to your answers; early accuracy matters.
- ◆ Retakes. Up to five attempts in a rolling 12-month period; you choose which scores schools see.

THE TIMES EDU METHOD ◆

Five steps from first diagnostic to test day.

01

Diagnose

A full-length timed diagnostic, then a review session that sorts every error by cause: concept, method, reading, or time.

YOU LEAVE WITH

Error profile and score baseline

02

Target and plan

We work back from your school list and application round to a target score, a test date and a weekly hours budget you can keep.

YOU LEAVE WITH

Written study plan with milestones

03

Build

One-to-one sessions take each weak area from concept to a repeatable technique, using original practice sets and official GMAC materials.

YOU LEAVE WITH

Technique checklist per question type

04

Rehearse

Timed section sets and full mocks under exam conditions. Your error log shows which mistakes are shrinking and which are not.

YOU LEAVE WITH

Mock results and error-log trend

05

Exam ready

Section order, pacing checkpoints and edit strategy are locked in; we walk you through registration, test-day rules and the retake decision.

YOU LEAVE WITH

Test-day plan

TYPICAL PREPARATION FRAMES ◆

8 weeks

STRONG FOUNDATION

Recent graduates with solid maths and English reading who can study most days.

12 weeks

STANDARD PLAN

The most common frame: time to rebuild weak areas and sit several full mocks.

16+ weeks

WORKING PROFESSIONALS

Fewer hours per week, spread longer, with mocks timed around work peaks.

Frames are planning starting points, not promises. Your diagnostic and weekly hours set the real timeline.

PROGRAMME FEATURES ◆

What is included.

One-to-one tutoring

A specialist GMAT tutor for each candidate. Sessions follow your plan, not a class syllabus.

GMAT Mastery handbook

Times Edu's own English-language handbook: structure, section strategy, study plans and original practice banks.

Error log and analytics

Every timed set is logged by question type and error cause, so progress is measured, not guessed.

Mock exams

Full-length mocks under timed conditions, each followed by a debrief that updates the plan.

Progress reviews

Reviews with you at the milestones agreed in your plan, with the next block adjusted from the data.

Application-aware

Test date planned around your application rounds; help choosing between GMAT, GRE and Executive Assessment.

LOGISTICS ◆

FORMAT

One-to-one, online or in person at our campuses

CAMPUSES

Landmark 81 and Thảo Điền (Ho Chi Minh City) · Times City (Hà Nội)

SESSION LENGTH

90 minutes as standard; confirmed in your plan

LANGUAGE

Taught in English, with Vietnamese explanation whenever it helps

START DATE

Any week of the year — the exam itself runs year-round

WHO IT SUITS

Final-year students and working professionals applying to graduate business programmes

Probably not the right time yet if your application is less than four weeks away and you have not sat a diagnostic, or you are looking for group classes or a guaranteed score. We will tell you that at the consultation rather than sell you a plan that cannot work.

HOW PROGRESS IS MEASURED ◆

Section scores

Each full mock reports Quant, Verbal and Data Insights on the 60–90 scale, so the weakest section is always visible.

Accuracy by type

Hit rate per question type from the error log, compared block to block.

Pacing

Time per question and unfinished items per section, tracked until both are under control.

QUESTIONS AND INVESTMENT ◆

Frequently asked.

GMAT or GRE?

Many business schools accept both. We look at your target schools and your diagnostic strengths before recommending one, and say so plainly if the GRE or Executive Assessment fits you better.

What score should I aim for?

It depends on your programmes. We read the class profiles your schools publish and set a target from there.

How long will preparation take?

It depends on your starting point and the hours you can give each week. The diagnostic gives a realistic estimate before you commit.

Test centre or online?

Both deliver the same exam structure and scoring. We help you choose based on your home set-up and the schools' requirements.

Do you guarantee a score?

No. We commit to a clear plan, honest measurement of progress and the full effort of your tutor. Your result depends on the work done on both sides.

How do I register for the exam?

Registration and payment are made on mba.com, the official GMAC site. We walk you through choosing a date that fits your plan.

INVESTMENT ◆

The per-session fee is quoted in writing after your diagnostic consultation, together with the terms of that first session. Session bundles reduce the per-session rate:

–5%
18 SESSIONS

–8%

–13%
72 SESSIONS

up to –18%
ANNUAL PLAN

GMAT exam registration is paid separately to GMAC on mba.com and is not included in tuition.

NEXT STEP

Start with a diagnostic consultation.

Tell us your target schools and application round. We will set a baseline, show you where the points are and propose a plan you can check against the calendar.
